

HIGH-ALTITUDE TREK · KARAKORAM

K6, K7 Base Camp Trek

DURATION

16 Days

15 nights

MAX ALTITUDE

4,500 m

high point

GRADE

Hard

trekking

SEASON

Jun-Sep

best months

FROM

$2,200

per person

The Trek

The K6 & K7 Base Camp Trek is one of the Karakoram's finest off-the-beaten-path adventures — a journey through the stunning Charakusa Valley to the base camps of K6 (7,040m) and K7 (6,934m), two of Pakistan's most dramatic and technically demanding peaks. While the Baltoro Glacier draws thousands of trekkers each year, the Charakusa Valley sees only a handful of expeditions — offering the same quality of Karakoram scenery in almost complete solitude. The Charakusa Valley is accessed from the village of Hushe in the Ghanche District of Gilgit-Baltistan — one of Pakistan's most beautiful Balti villages, surrounded by towering granite walls and glaciated peaks. The valley

▲ K7 Base Camp

▲ Charakusa Glacier

▲ K6 Base Camp

▲ Both Peaks in View

Altitude profile

metres above sea level · day 1 → 16

At a Glance

Duration	16 Days · 15 Nights	Grade	Hard
Max altitude	4,500 m	Group size	Private & small group
Route	Islamabad → Islamabad	Best season	Jun–Sep
Accommodation	Hotel · Camping	Visa	Trekking visa + permits
From	$2,200 pp

Fitness & grade. A hard trek with a high point of 4,500 m, repeated days at altitude. You should be a fit, regular hill-walker, comfortable with long days on rough ground and the real remoteness of the Karakoram. No previous Himalayan experience is required, but a good training base is essential.

Training & Preparation

This is a serious multi-day trek with repeated days at altitude and a high point well above 4,500 m. Your enjoyment depends heavily on arriving fit. Build your training over months, not weeks — the cumulative load of consecutive days on rough ground is the real challenge.

Build endurance

- Long hill walks, 5–7 hours, on consecutive days
- Carry a 6–8 kg pack in training
- Add stairs, hills and incline work weekly

Strengthen

- Legs, core and ankles for rough ground
- Downhill practice — descents are punishing
- Two trekking poles, used in training too

Skills & mind

- Comfort on steep, loose and snow-patched ground
- Break in your boots thoroughly before you fly
- Prepare mentally for cold, camp life and remoteness

Day by Day

Porters on a Karakoram trail

1
DAY

540 m Arrive

Arrive Islamabad

Arrive in Islamabad for the briefing and gear check.

2
DAY

2,500 m Flight

Fly to Skardu

Fly to Skardu (2,500m) and begin the drive toward Hushe Valley.

3
DAY

3,100 m Trek

Skardu to Hushe

Drive to Hushe village (3,100m), the trailhead, and prep for the trail.

4
DAY

3,100 m Rest / Acclimatise

Rest at Hushe

An acclimatization day at Hushe with a walk and porter briefing.

5
DAY

3,600 m Trek

Into Charakusa

Trek to Sona Phari (3,600m) at the entrance to the Charakusa valley.

6
DAY

4,200 m Trek

K7 Base Camp

Climb to K7 Base Camp (4,200m) for first views of K7 (6,934m).

7
DAY

4,200 m Trek

Charakusa Glacier

Explore around K7 Base Camp with a walk on the Charakusa Glacier.

8
DAY

4,500 m Trek

K6 Base Camp

Move to K6 Base Camp (4,500m) under the wall of K6 (7,040m).

9
DAY

4,500 m Trek

Naysar Approach

A rest day at K6 Base Camp with an approach walk toward Naysar Peak.

10
DAY

4,500 m Trek

Both Peaks in View

A photography day at K6 Base Camp with both K6 and K7 in view.

11
DAY

4,200 m Trek

Charakusa Circuit

Trek back to K7 Base Camp, completing the full Charakusa valley circuit.

12
DAY

3,600 m Trek

Begin Descent

Begin the descent, dropping to Sona Phari (3,600m).

13
DAY

3,100 m Trek

Back to Hushe

Trek out to Hushe village - the trek is complete.

14
DAY

2,500 m Trek

Skardu via Khaplu

Drive to Skardu with a stop at Khaplu Palace.

2,500 m Rest / Acclimatise

Skardu Rest Day

A rest day in Skardu with a celebration dinner.

540 m Depart

Departure

Fly from Skardu to Islamabad for departure.

What's Included

Included

- Return domestic flights, all transport, accommodation, all trek meals, licensed Balti guide, porters, cook, and all permits.

Not Included

- International flights, Pakistan visa fees, personal travel insurance, personal gear, and tips.

On the Trek

● 100% local Balti team

Our own guides, cooks and porters from the mountain valleys — not a brokered hand-off. People who have grown up under these peaks.

● Satellite phone in camp

A Thuraya sat phone on every trek for logistics, weather and emergency coordination where there is no mobile signal for days.

● Real rescue planning

Established helicopter-rescue contacts and clear evacuation procedures. Rescue is arranged on your behalf and billed to your insurance — never “free”.

● Altitude managed

Built-in acclimatisation and reserve days, a portable altitude chamber (PAC/Gamow bag) and a comprehensive medical kit carried with the group.

Temperatures by altitude

Best season: Summer (June – September)

Valleys 2,000–3,500 m

Mid camps 3,500–4,300 m

High camps 4,300–4,600 m

High point 4,500 m

+5 °C nights

up to +35 °C days

around 0 °C

+18 °C in sun

down to -8 °C

cold, bright days

sub-zero, wind

early start

A high camp in the Karakoram

Possible Risks

We do not hide the hazards of high mountains — being honest about them is how we keep people safe. Here is what you are taking on, and how we manage it.

Altitude illness

The main hazard on any high trek. AMS is common; the dangerous forms (HACE and HAPE) are rare but serious. We manage it with a graded, acclimatisation-first schedule, reserve days, daily monitoring, a portable altitude chamber and the readiness to descend.

Steep & remote ground

Long days on rough moraine, scree and snow patches, far from help. We pace carefully, choose safe lines and never rush exposed sections.

Glacier & rivers

Crevasses, unstable moraine and glacier-fed rivers that run fast on hot afternoons. We choose lines and timings carefully and rope up where needed.

Mountain roads

Jeep tracks and mountain highways can be long, narrow and exposed. We use experienced drivers and well-maintained vehicles.

Weather & flights

Mountain flights cancel and weather can pin a group; buffer days are built in so a delay does not derail the trek.

Food, water & remoteness

Stomach upsets are the most common complaint; we treat all water and cook hygienically. Above all this is remote country — you may be days from a hospital and evacuation depends on weather.

Insurance

Cover is mandatory

You cannot join this trek without travel insurance, and you must bring written proof. We check it before departure. Standard holiday insurance will not cover high-altitude trekking — you need specialist adventure cover.

What your policy must include

Trekking to at least 5,000 m; helicopter search, rescue and evacuation; emergency medical treatment and repatriation; and ideally trip cancellation. Read the altitude limits and rescue clauses carefully before you buy.

Where to look

Specialist providers such as Global Rescue, the Austrian Alpine Club / BMC schemes, or dedicated expedition insurers typically offer suitable cover. Confirm in writing that your altitude is included.

Helicopter Rescue Procedure

There is no road and no quick way out of the high Karakoram. A serious illness or injury is evacuated by helicopter — a process that is neither automatic nor free, and which weather can delay for hours or days. Understanding how it works is part of trekking here responsibly.

1 • The call

The emergency is reported by our satellite phone to our operations base, which contacts the rescue authorities. This is why a sat phone travels with every trek.

2 • The guarantee

Military aviation — the only operator permitted to fly rescues in this region — is tasked once a financial guarantee is confirmed. This is exactly why proof of insurance must be in place before the trek begins.

3 • The flight

Helicopters fly in pairs for safety and can only operate in suitable weather and below their altitude ceiling. A casualty high up may first need to be moved to a lower, safer landing site by the team.

4 • The cost

All rescue and evacuation costs are charged to your insurance. Rescue is never free or included in your trek price — our role is to coordinate it quickly and keep you stabilised while help is arranged.

Health & Medicine

We carry a comprehensive group medical kit and a portable altitude chamber, and our leaders are trained in remote first aid. You should still bring your own small personal kit. This list is general guidance only — please discuss your medication, and especially altitude drugs, with a travel-medicine doctor before you travel.

Altitude

- Acetazolamide (Diamox) — aids acclimatisation
- Emergency altitude drugs only on a doctor's advice
- Know the symptoms of AMS, HACE and HAPE

Stomach & gut

- Oral rehydration salts (e.g. Dioralyte)
- Loperamide for diarrhoea
- A doctor-prescribed antibiotic for gut infections

Pain & fever

- Paracetamol and ibuprofen
- Aspirin
- Throat lozenges for the dry, cold air

Wounds & skin

- Blister care (Compeed) and zinc-oxide tape
- Antiseptic wipes and a range of plasters
- High-SPF sunscreen and lip balm

Personal

- All your regular prescription medicines, in carry-on
- A copy of prescriptions and any allergies
- Rehydration and electrolyte tabs

Good to know

- Tell your leader of any condition or allergy
- Diamox is a sulfa drug — check for allergy first
- Start personal medication advice early, not last-minute

Kit List

The recommended kit for this trek. Your leader checks gear before departure. A porter carries your duffel; you carry a light daypack.

Footwear & feet

- Broken-in waterproof trekking boots with ankle support
- Trekking + warm socks
- Camp shoes / down booties
- Gaiters for snow and scree

Clothing layers

- Base layers (top & bottom)
- Fleece or soft-shell mid layers
- Waterproof shell jacket & trousers
- Insulated down jacket
- Trekking trousers & shorts

Head, hands & eyes

- Warm hat + sun hat + buff
- Liner gloves + warm gloves
- Glacier / mountain sunglasses
- Head torch + spare batteries

Trail & glacier

- Two trekking poles
- Microspikes for icy / snow sections
- 35–45 L daypack
- 100–120 L waterproof duffel (porter-carried)
- Water bottles x2 + purification

Sleep & personal

- 4-season sleeping bag (to -15°C)
- Inflatable sleeping mat
- Personal first-aid kit (see medicine list)
- Toiletries & quick-dry towel
- Power bank / solar charger

Cultural Considerations

You are a guest

You travel through Muslim mountain communities with their own languages and deep traditions of hospitality. Meet them with respect and you will be welcomed everywhere.

Dress modestly

Both men and women should keep shoulders and knees covered in villages and towns. For women, loose clothing and a light scarf are appreciated.

Photography

Always ask before photographing people — and never photograph women without clear permission. A smile and a gesture go a long way.

Ramadan & prayer

During Ramadan, eat and drink discreetly out of respect for those fasting. Around mosques and prayer times, keep a low profile.

Respect the crew

Our porters and cooks are skilled local people, not servants. Treat them as teammates and the whole trek is richer for it.

A few words

“Assalam-o-Alaikum” (peace be upon you) is the universal greeting; “Shukria” means thank you. A little effort with language is always met with delight.

Responsible Travel

Trekking here should leave the mountains and the communities better, not worse. We run these trips to put income into local hands and keep the Karakoram clean.

People

- Local guides, cooks and porters, fairly paid
- Capped, fair porter loads and proper gear
- Spending that supports villages and the bazaar

Place

- Carry out all non-biodegradable waste
- Toilet tents and proper waste management in camp
- Stay on trails; protect fragile alpine ground and wildlife

Communications & Money

Connectivity

Phone signal and wifi exist in the towns, but there is no mobile coverage on trek — for the trekking days you are off-grid. We carry a Thuraya satellite phone for safety and logistics; personal calls are possible at cost. GPS tracking lets family follow your progress. Tell people at home about the communications gap before you go.

Money & tipping

Bring your spending money as cash in USD, EUR or GBP — there are limited ATMs in the towns and none on trek. Tipping the crew is an expected custom: budget a fair amount into a shared group fund, divided among guides, cooks and porters. Keep some small cash for drinks, handicrafts and the bazaar.

Visa & Permits

Trekking visa & permits

Pakistan requires a visa for entry; restricted-zone treks additionally need a Trekking & Mountaineering visa — distinct from a standard tourist visa. We advise on the right category and provide an invitation letter and supporting documents.

Permits & NOC

National-park entry, trekking permits and any No-Objection Certificate for restricted zones are arranged by us and included in your trek price where applicable.

Passport & insurance

Passport valid 6+ months with blank pages. Travel insurance covering trekking to 5,000 m and helicopter evacuation is mandatory — bring written proof.

Recommended Reading

Throne Room of the Mountain Gods

Galen Rowell

A photographer-climber's classic on the Karakoram and its great glaciers.

The Gilgit Game

John Keay

The history of exploration and intrigue across the Karakoram passes.

Trekking in the Karakoram & Hindukush

Lonely Planet

The practical route reference for trekking northern Pakistan.

Where the Indus is Young

Dervla Murphy

A travel classic: a winter journey through Baltistan with her young daughter.

Karakoram: Mountains of Pakistan

Shiro Shirahata

A landmark photographic survey of the range's great peaks.

Full Tilt / On a Shoestring to Coorg

Dervla Murphy

More from a writer who travelled this region with rare honesty.

Pricing & Departures

Per-person price by group size — all-inclusive of the services listed. Private departures on your own dates; fixed group departures run in season. Discounts apply automatically as your group grows.

Solo 1 Person

$4,840

per person

2–3 Persons

$3,520

per person

4–6 Persons

$2,750

per person

7–10 Persons

$2,200

best value · per person

Trek the Karakoram with a local team.

Local hands · Real safety · Fair price

WhatsApp / Call

+92 312 9921574

Email

Info@karakoramventure.com

Online

karakoramventure.com

+92 312 9921574 · Info@karakoramventure.com · karakoramventure.com | Day altitudes are from our route data; timings vary with weather, conditions and group pace. Medicine and insurance notes are general guidance — consult a travel-medicine doctor and your insurer. Prices may change with availability, demand and government travel regulations. Restricted-zone treks require a Trekking & Mountaineering visa and permits. © Karakoram Venture, Skardu.